12 Petitioner,

13 v.

14 RON VAN BOENING,

15 Respondent.
16

Case No. C09-5460RJB/JRC

REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION

NOTED FOR:
February 19, 2010

17
18 The petitioner filed this action seeking federal habeas corpus relief pursuant to 28 U.S.C.
19 § 2254, however he is not challenging his state conviction or sentence. Instead, he is challenging
20 his placement in administrative segregation pending a disciplinary hearing. There is nothing in 21 the petition that suggests petitioner has lost good time or earned time as a result of his placement
22 in administrative segregation. Thus, this petition does not challenge fact or duration of 23 confinement. This case has been referred to the undersigned Magistrate Judge pursuant to 28
24 U.S.C. §§ 636 (b) (1) (A) and 636 (b) (1) (B) and Local Magistrate Judges' Rules MJR 3 and 25 MJR 4.

REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION- 1

1 FACTS

2 Petitioner states that on July 12, 2009, his cell was searched and officer's discovered a
3 CD case with pornographic DVD's. He and his cell mate, Mr. Linear, were placed in
4 segregation and issued an infracted on a "cell tag". A "cell tag" holds all inmates in a cell
5 responsible for the contents of the cell. If contraband is found, all inmates in the cell are 6 infracted. In re Anderson, 112 Wn. 2d 546, 772 P.2d 510 (1989).
7

8 As of July 23, 2009, petitioner had not had a disciplinary hearing and he filed this petition
9 claiming he was being denied due process of law and that his placement in segregation was
10 arbitrary and capricious because prison officials were not following the Washington
11 Administrative Code regarding "cell tags." (Dkt. # 3 and 5).

12 Respondent has filed an answer that gives the court additional information. Petitioner
13 was infracted the day of the search - - July 12, 2009. On July 13, 2009, he received notice there
14 would be a disciplinary hearing. On July 14, 2009, the hearing was continued as the prison I & I
15 unit, (Intelligence and Investigations), was reviewing the incident (Dkt. # 11, Exhibit 5).
16

17 On July 28, 2009, a hearing was held. Petitioner denied any knowledge of the DVD's
18 and claimed the finding of contraband in his cell was a total surprise to him (Dkt. # 11, Exhibit
19 6). Significantly, his cell mate, Mr. Linear, admitted ownership of the DVD's. Further, Mr.
20 Linear testified that Mr. Mitchell had no knowledge of the DVD's. Linear's testimony was 21 corroborated by the fact that the DVD's were found in a case belonging to Mr. Linear that was 22 found under Linear's desk (Dkt. # 11, Exhibits 3 and 6). The hearings officer believed
23 petitioner's claim that he was not involved and dismissed the charges against him on July 28,
24 2009 (Dkt. # 11, Exhibit 6). He was subsequently released from administrative segregation.
26

Respondent notes that the petitioner filed no state Personal Restraint Petition in this case and completely bypassed the state court system (Dkt. # 11). Respondent moves to dismiss the petition for failure to exhaust state court remedies (Dkt. # 11). Petitioner did not respond. Thus, the contention that he did not exhaust state court remedies is uncontested.

EVIDENTIARY HEARING NOT REQUIRED

If a habeas applicant has failed to develop the factual basis for a claim in state court, an evidentiary hearing in this court shall not be held unless the applicant shows that: (A) the claim relies on (1) a new rule of constitutional law, made retroactive to cases on collateral review by the Supreme Court that was previously unavailable, or if there is (2) a factual predicate that could not have been previously discovered through the exercise of due diligence; and (B) the facts underlying the claim would be sufficient to establish by clear and convincing evidence that but for constitutional error, no reasonable fact finder would have found the applicant guilty of the underlying offense. 28 U.S.C. §2254(e)(2) (1996).

Petitioner's claims rely on established rules of constitutional law. Further, petitioner has not set forth any factual basis for his claims that could not have been previously discovered by due diligence. Finally, the facts underlying petitioner's claims do not challenge his conviction or sentence. Therefore, this court concludes that there is no reason to conduct an evidentiary hearing.

DISCUSSION

A. The Standard of Review.

Federal courts may intervene in the state judicial process only to correct wrongs of a constitutional dimension. Engle v. Isaac, 456 U.S. 107 (1983). Section 2254 explicitly states that a federal court may entertain an application for writ of habeas corpus “only on the ground

1 that [the petitioner] is in custody in violation of the constitution or law or treaties of the United
2 States.” 28 U.S.C. § 2254(a)(1995). The Supreme Court has stated many times that federal
3 habeas corpus relief does not lie for mere errors of state law. Estelle v. McGuire, 502 U.S. 62
4 (1991); Lewis v. Jeffers, 497 U.S. 764 (1990); Pulley v. Harris, 465 U.S. 37, 41 (1984);

5 A habeas corpus petition shall not be granted with respect to any claim adjudicated on the
6 merits in the state courts unless the adjudication either (1) resulted in a decision that was contrary
7 to, or involved an unreasonable application of, clearly established federal law, as determined by
8 the Supreme Court; or (2) resulted in a decision that was based on an unreasonable determination
9 of the facts in light of the evidence presented to the state courts. 28 U.S.C. §2254(d). Further, a 10 determination of a factual issue by a state court shall be presumed correct, and the applicant has
11 the burden of rebutting the presumption of correctness by clear and convincing evidence. 28
12 U.S.C. §2254(e)(1). Here, there was no state adjudication as petitioner bypassed the state court
13 system.
14

15
16 B. Exhaustion.

17 In order to satisfy the exhaustion requirement, petitioner’s claims must have been fairly
18 presented at every level of appeal. Ortberg v. Moody, 961 F.2d 135, 138 (9th Cir. 1992). A 19 federal habeas petitioner must provide the state courts with a fair opportunity to correct alleged
20 violations of prisoners’ federal rights. Duncan v. Henry, 513 U.S. 364 (1995). It is not enough
21 that all the facts necessary to support the federal claim were before the state courts or that a
22 somewhat similar state law claim was made. Id., citing Picard v. Connor, 404 U.S. 270 (1971)
23 and Anderson v. Harless, 459 U.S. 4 (1982). It is uncontested that no state court proceeding
24 challenging the petitioner’s placement in segregation or challenging the “cell tag” was ever filed.
26

1 Instead, petitioner came directly to federal court. The claims in this petition are unexhausted and
2 should be DISMISSED WITHOUT PREJUDICE.

3 CERTIFICATE OF APPEALABILITY

4 A petitioner seeking post-conviction relief under 28 U.S.C. § 2254 may appeal a district
5 court's dismissal of his federal habeas petition only after obtaining a certificate of appealability
6 (COA) from a district or circuit judge. A certificate of appealability may issue only where a
7 petitioner has made "a substantial showing of the denial of a constitutional right." See 28 U.S.C.
8 § 2253(c)(3). A petitioner satisfies this standard "by demonstrating that jurists of reason could 9 disagree with the district court's resolution of his constitutional claims or that jurists could 10 conclude the issues presented are adequate to deserve encouragement to proceed further."
11 Miller-El v. Cockrell, 537 U.S. 322, 327 (2003). Under this standard, this Court concludes that 12 petitioner is not entitled to a certificate of appealability with respect to this petition.
13

14 CONCLUSION

15 Based on the foregoing discussion, the court recommends this petition be DISMISSED
16 WITHOUT PREJUDICE. Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1) and Rule 72(b) of the Federal 17 Rules of Civil Procedure, the parties shall have fourteen (14) days from service of this Report to 18 file written objections. See also Fed. R. Civ. P. 6. Failure to file objections will result in a 19 waiver of those objections for purposes of appeal. Thomas v. Arn, 474 U.S. 140 (1985).
20 Accommodating the time limit imposed by Rule 72(b), the clerk is directed to set the matter for
21 consideration on February 19, 2010, as noted in the caption

23 DATED this 28th day of January, 2010.
